

There is lots of pre-med help out there

Career Cupid is a better investment. Here's why:

	Other Pre-Med Companies
Pre-med and medical student advising is my focus and expertise: I was an admissions committee member at a Canadian medical school for 8 years, reviewing applicant files and interviewing candidates like you I am a former physician recruiter, where I reviewed CVs and co-interviewed doctors for specialties and subspecialties in internal medicine I am a current instructor of medical students at Queen's University School of Medicine where I teach and advise students about CV, Personal Letter and Interview prep for residency	Advisors are mostly current medical students or residents: how much experience do they have reviewing applications? Advisors are sometimes physicians – how much experience do they have reviewing applications? Current students and physicians are definitely a good resource to help you understand what someone else's journey to medical school was like. But, they are rarely Canadian admissions experts.
I am the #1 Amazon best-selling author of the recent medical school admissions book: Just What the Doctor Ordered – The Insider's Guide to Getting into Medical School in Canada I have 21 years of experience helping thousands of medical school and residency applicants, which translates into extremely knowledgeable and effective admissions strategy and advice for you	Advisors mostly have only their own, singular experience with med school applications to draw from—not thousands of applicants Even physicians, who can share what they did and like to see in applicants, don't have much or any experience helping applicants translate their backgrounds into effective applications or interviews
I am at least 40% more cost-effective than any competitor service I have found because I believe med school should be more accessible and diverse	Very expensive services, usually with far less admissions advising experience to offer you
My business is YOU. Whether you are in high school, university, are a parent, mature, or grad student, applying to Canada, the US or elsewhere, I can help	Medical students and physicians have to fit you in between their academic schedule and demands, often without their school's knowledge or approval

Career Cupid is at: ChristineFader.com